

Prof. Richard Yarwood, University of Plymouth

Professor Richard Yarwood is a Professor of Human Geography at the University of Plymouth. His research focuses on social geography and, within this sub-discipline, has examined rural change, policing, military geographies and the voluntary sector. These diverse interests were drawn together in his most recent book Citizenship.